

Green Quest

Find the Green in the Concrete Pavilion

Embark on the Green Quest and win while you learn how concrete is the most sustainable building product on Earth. Inside the Concrete Pavilion, eight booths are waiting to help you on your Quest. Simply tear out this entry form, visit the participating booths, acquire both the answer to the question and stamp associated with each company, and then return the entry form to the Portland Cement Association booth (located in the center of the Pavilion, booth #N2342).

1. Portland Cement Association (N2342)

The three things that contribute to the unsurpassed energy performance of a concrete home are: high R-value, low air infiltration and _____.

2. National Concrete Masonry Association (N2422)

When it comes to concrete masonry and sustainability, the life cycle of a masonry constructed home exceeds _____ years.

3. Precast/Prestressed Concrete Institute (PCI) (N2428)

How many points can precast concrete sandwich wall panels help to obtain in LEED's version 2.2, Energy and Atmosphere credit 1?

4. Acme Brick (N2416)

Acme Brick has built _____ lakes out of former raw material sites.

5. Greenblock (N2632)

How many potential points can you earn through the NAHB Green Guidelines by using Greenblock ICFs?

6. Logix (N2436)

What is the highest R-value you can achieve with a Logix wall?

7. Lonestar Stone (N2316 and N2628)

Lonestar Stone's products help fulfill the LEED Regional Materials credit, which tries to cut down on pollution and transportation costs by requiring materials to be extracted, processed and manufactured within a _____ radius.

8. Western Forms (N2429)

How many trees does it take to build 1000 cast-in-place homes with Western Forms in one year and how many years does it take to grow these trees?

NAME: _____

E-MAIL: _____

PHONE: _____

Prizes Include:

iPod touch, Wii, pre-paid gas card, Xbox 360, and Blu-Ray player.

Drawings will be held each day of the show!

Participants must complete all 8 questions correctly and receive stamps from each booth in order to qualify.

Employees and family members of participating companies are not eligible to win.
One prize per entrant. You do not need to be present to win.